Quotable

"The expectation of professionalism goes beyond our treatment of co-workers and opposing counsel. It also extends to how we treat our clients. Regardless of the wealth of the client or your hourly rate, we should treat all clients with dignity and respect and represent each client with diligence and the highest of ethics."

—Portland attorney Andrew Schpak, discussing professionalism in the modern workplace, during a Q&A with colleague Edwin Harnden. Read the entire interview on page 32 of this edition of the Bulletin.

is privileged; the information was communicated in the course of representing a client, and disclosure would be detrimental to the client; or the information was acquired from a report of child abuse, and you reasonably believe that the information already is known to law enforcement or DHS.

For when to report, see ORS 419B.005 for details).

Use the statewide hotline or report to the local office of the Oregon Department of Human Services, or a law enforcement agency in the county where you are located at the time.

Failure to report is a Class A violation.

A person who has reasonable grounds to make a report and does so in good faith is immune from civil or criminal liability for the making or content of the report.

Reports of child abuse are confidential, except as otherwise provided in ORS 419B.035.

The statewide telephone number to report suspected abuse, or for further information, is (855) 503-SAFE (7233).

"Zachary, I am afraid that you are just too controlling to be my boyfriend . . . but I would certainly recommend you if you ever wanted to be someone's fiduciary."
